ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Computer Information Systems Computer Support Specialist Short-Term Certificate program is designed to provide a solid foundation in the fundamental skills that are generally required to analyze system requirements and design solutions or to support and manage the application of technology resources. Degree concentrations include core courses of information systems fundamentals, database systems, networking, web systems and software development.

Students are also prepared to interface with users and functions as an integral part of an IT support team.

WHAT DO COMPUTER SUPPORT SPECIALISTS DO?

Computer support specialists provide help and advice to people and organizations using computer software or equipment. Some, called technical support specialists, support information technology (IT) employees within their organization. Others, called help-desk technicians, assist non-IT users who are having computer problems.

WHERE DO THEY WORK?

Computer support specialists work in many different industries, including IT, education, finance, health care, and telecommunication.
