

DATA DROPS

The average community college class size is 25-35 students. In contrast, some introductory-level courses at universities are in lecture halls with 150-300 or more students in a class.

Due to increase in enrollment, the average class size at WCCCD has increased over the past three years.

Source: Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS)

“Supporting Planning, Research, Assessment, and Effectiveness”

