VIRGINIA TECH:

DEALING WITH MASS CASUALTY THREATS

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 2018

11:00 A.M. – 1:30 P.M.

DOWNTOWN CAMPUS

FRANK HAYDEN COMMUNITY ROOM 236
 1001 WEST FORT STREET, DETROIT, MI 48226

Nationally renowned Virginia Tech Police Chief Kevin L. Foust will address emerging issues in managing a mass casualty threat. This presentation takes an in-depth look at a crisis incident that occurred at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University on April 16, 2007. Participants will explore the perpetrator's background, the perpetrator's actions and the law enforcement response. Participants will be challenged to consider how they might respond under similar circumstances in both preventative measures and tactical response to an actual incident.

Participants will learn how to:

- Show how to get students and staff to think dynamically
- Recognize the need for violent act threat planning
- Demonstrate the importance of working with local police and first responders
- Identify campus programs to address warning signs of individuals
- Recognize the need for continued evolution of campus safety

OPEN TO THE PUBLIC AT NO COST!
