GETTING THE MOST OUT OF ANCESTRY DNA: CONNECTING FAMILY AND COMMUNITIES

FEATURING

EVA GOODWIN

Eva Goodwin has been working professionally as a genealogist since 2012, specializing in solving genetic mysteries, including adoptions, and breaking down ancestral “brick walls.”

Since joining AncestryProGenealogists in January 2015, Eva has also contributed to research for the Who Do You Think You Are? TV series. She was the 2015 recipient of the Association of Professional Genealogists’ Young Professional Award for excellence in the field. Currently, she is a research team manager for the unknown parentage group at ProGen.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10, 2019

10:30 A.M. - 1:00 P.M.

NORTHWEST CAMPUS

LARRY K. LEWIS EDUCATION CENTER • AUDITORIUM
8200 W. OUTER DRIVE, DETROIT, MI 48219

This session will include review of case studies to demonstrate how DNA information can be analyzed. Understand how the Ancestry DNA analysis correlated with credible evidence to answer real genealogical questions. Ancestry DNA will show how these results connects family with ancestors and community.

Participants will learn:

- What is Ancestry DNA
- How it’s related to genealogy
- To gain a better understanding of Ancestry.com DNA results
- How to answer some of the common questions asked by family historians

Open to the Public at No Cost!
