"The Last Mountain"

The burning of coal is a major cause of climate change. The dumping of toxic waste into rivers, lakes, and streams where people are living, poisons their environment and is a cause of cancer and other diseases.

"The Last Mountain" is an eye-opening enviro-documentary about the fight between a mining giant that wants to explode the last great mountain in America's Appalachian heartland and the community fighting to preserve the mountain and build a wind farm on its ridges instead.
